You could be losing 50% of your home's heat through the roof and walls.

When it's cold, you lose heat from your head. And it's the same with your house. If it's not insulated properly, you could be losing more than 50% of your home's heat, losing you money too!

2 out of 3 Scottish lofts don't have enough insulation. But now there's an easy way to find out if you could save money by topping up. Call the Home Energy Scotland Hotline from the Scottish Government for free, impartial advice.

Turn up your savings, not your heating.

Loft insulation (270mm) could save you £175 a year. It will last 40 years and pay for itself again and again.

Get in touch and you could save up to £280 a year on your energy bills.

"The new insulation has really helped combat the loss of heat."
